WHO IS UNCLEBRANDON?

Brandon "UncleBrandon" McKoy is a business strategist and author specializing in enterprise development for creatives and emerging founders. His work bridges creativity and capital, equipping individuals and institutions with the structural and financial frameworks required to build scalable, economically sustainable ventures.

He is the author of The Business You Keep Avoiding and The Music You Keep Avoiding, where he advances a disciplined approach to operational strategy, financial literacy, and long-term wealth positioning within creative and entrepreneurial ecosystems.

UncleBrandon has partnered with Baltimore City Schools, Baltimore County Public Schools, Anne Arundel County Public Schools, Morgan State University, Towson University, BAPTA, and more to support initiatives centered on economic empowerment and structured growth.

His core thesis is direct: "Your creativity deserves more than better. Your creativity deserves the best."

FEATURED BOOKS

UncleBrandon has a growing body of transformational written work that focuses on helping creatives and entrepreneurs confront the lack of healing that often keeps them professionally and financially bound.
